Seera, the groundbreaking all-female Arab psychedelic rock band, are set to enchant audiences once again with their unique blend of ancient Middle Eastern sounds and modern psychedelic rock. Named after the Arabic word for "story/journey," Seera promise to transport listeners on an unforgettable sonic voyage.

"Al Fanaa" (Oblivion) is a dramatic exploration of psychological and emotional turmoil, capturing the essence of feeling lost and isolated. This latest single from Seera explores themes of confusion, isolation, fear and the search for meaning in life. The lyrics depict a journey through a dark and bewildering forest, symbolizing a lost sense of time and direction. The cautious steps on a path designed to ruin reflect a struggle against inevitable hardships. In search of a hopeful outcome.

The music video for "Al Fanaa" was shot in a vibrant green landscape amongst towering palm trees, grounding the ethereal song in a natural setting. The accompanying artwork, created by Monah, depicts a lonely figure lost in the forest, perfectly reflecting the song's themes of isolation and the search for hope and meaning. This track serves as a teaser for their eagerly anticipated debut album, set to release later this year. The blend of groovy rhythms and dark melodies, combined with these visual elements takes the listener along an unforgettable journey.

Following the success of their sold-out debut show in 2023, Seera returned to The Warehouse to celebrate their one-year debut anniversary on Saturday, May 4th 2024 and celebrated another ticket sales milestone.

Seera's lineup comprises Nora J on lead vocals and guitar, Hayahuascah on guitar, Meesh on bass, and Thing on drums. Seera's own story began when guitarist Hayahuascah met sisters Meesh and Nora through Instagram, leading to a jam session that sparked their musical journey. Drummer Thing became the missing link after they met her at a music event later that summer and the chemistry between them was undeniable.

Seera have recently been featured in AP News, Hindu Times (India), Economic Times, The Independent (UK) and many international platforms have recently covered the band. The AP online piece has over 500k views and growing- showing the global interest in the band and their story.
